

media these days is about as diverse as strip malls anywhere in america...a taco bell on one end, a mac donalds on the other and kfc accross the street. no monopolies on our media! there's too much ignorance in this country thanks to corporate media feeding us only what is beneficial to their interests and the status quo.